We challenge the world in all history to produce a chapter equal in military and navallachievments, wise legislation and able administration of governmental affairs to the one now being closed between the United States and Spain. Within a few months a grand army was enlisted and equipped, and, with and invincible payy sent forth to maintain the nations honor on land and sea. The unsurpassed heroism, of the army, and the unequaled victories of the navy, have swelled every American heart with pride and made unquenchable the fires of patriotism on every American hearthstone. All the nations have been compelled to respect and honor us and acknowledge our supremacy.

The Republican Congress responded with enthusiasm born of love of country to the call of the President for means with which to carry on the war, and all Europe viewed with respectful wonder the promptness with which apparently inexhaustible resources were placed at the the Nation's honor seemed in the railroad bridge on the Gila river. alightest degree imperaled.
